Re: Jordan, et al. v. Washington
~ Mutual Bank
Civil No. H-02-1465

Gentlemen:

Counsel have once again requested an extension of Scheduling Order dates in this case. Pending is defendant's Consent Motion to Modify Scheduling Order. It appears that both plaintiffs' attorney and defendant's attorney have scheduled trips in February and March which interfere with their ability to comply with provisions of the Revised Scheduling Order of October 30, 2002.

Under the circumstances, I will grant the pending Consent Motion. A Second Revised Scheduling Order has been entered today. No further request for an extension of Scheduling Order dates will be granted absent compelling circumstances. A copy of the Second Revised Scheduling Order is enclosed herewith for each of you.

Very truly yours,

Alexander Harvey, II
Senior United States District Judge
